PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

As better weather starts to take over, the Essex Troop moves into a season of historical milestones. May of 1890 marks when the first call went out to organize a troop of cavalry in Newark, NJ. Our founder Colonel James E. Fleming referred to this organization as "A mounted body, a troop of cavalry." As was the custom in those days, a letter went out, approximately sixty copies from a local print shop. One June 3, 1890, fifty men attended the first meeting, forty of the fifty attendees sign the charter.

Another nineteen men would sign on within a few days. The final roster dated June 3, 1890, indicated there were thirteen officers and NCO's and forty-six troopers. The roster further records there were six sets of brothers, three prominent business men from Newark, two lawyers, two accountants and one politician.

Three years later, the Troop would be mustered into the NJ National Guard by Colonel Michael T. Barrett on the evening of May 17, 1893. At this time the Troop assembled at the Hill's Roseville Riding Academy, the site of the current Newark Armory. Short of equipment, arrangements were made to borrow pistols and sabers from Troop A of the NY National Guard. Additional arrangements were made for each Trooper to purchase a saddle suitable for cavalry drills from J. Newton Van Ness Manufacturer of Saddlery Hardware on Mechanic St in Newark at the cost of $12.50.
